The Big Production

Just like the Dinner Theatre and spring musical, the school year was a major production. For the stage performances, we rehearsed, built sets, and gathered costumes many months before opening night. Likewise, signing up for classes, scheduling, and freshman visitation started before the previous year had ended. Added attractions such as library displays, homecoming and prom required lots of planning and added sparkle to our everyday routine. Even within a school day many unnoticed preparations were made before we arrived. After we reached school and had finally gotten into one of those good conversations, the homeroom bell would ding and seem to say . . .

... Take Your Places

Why did we sometimes think we were totally out of place? We either ran to our favorite seats or dreaded going to our assigned ones, but when we sat there, we were in the—right place. When our diagonals were straight or when the big play of the game succeeded we were at the—right place. It ordinarily wasn't coincidence when we seemed to fall into the right place. There was usually someone directing, coaching us along. To be able to hear what our directors wanted to say, we had to be . . .

. . . Quiet on the Set

Being quiet on the set wasn't just silence. Whether we were studying, taking notes, or planning an upcoming event, we had to be ready to listen to new instructions. Even though our own ideas seemed best, others had to be considered before a locker area, prom, hoop, or yearbook theme could be chosen. Everything required listening. Whether it was a quarterback's hike, a coach's instructions, or a cue, quiet was necessary. Even a joke had to be heard before we could laugh. Keeping this in mind, we pooled our thoughts and came to one conclusion—we were now ready for . . .

...Lights... Camera... Action

Anytime we got an inspiration, our "light," we tried to plan it as well as we could, and then we would carry it out. We took two steps and jumped in feet first. Our float meeting were hectic and long, but after we figured out what to do and just how to do it, we quickly started building. Our FCA once again got the go-ahead on the annual "Almost Anything Goes" competition, and any sports event was an action guarantee. These activities took much hard work, but we proved ourselves when people saw how much fun we had. Although some things were planned as thoroughly as possible, they still fizzled. After several of these failures we got fed up and had to . . .

... Take Five

Although it may seem that we never have enough time to do all the things we want to do, we always seem to find time to take a break. Whether it's being benched for awhile during a ball-game, putting books aside for a minute, catching our breath after a cross-country meet, or just laying our head down to catch a few winks before our next class, we are usually willing to take advantage of these moments. These times are grand, but we realize that after taking our break we have to put everything in its place and prepare to . . .

Roll It

The time came for the curtain to go up, and we had to go on—ready or not. We had to have all our “bugs” worked out and preparations completed. There were no more days to get in shape, memorize lines, finish a project, or perfect a new play. We often thought, “I’m not ready for this,” but when the spotlight came on, the jitters disappeared, and our efforts were directed toward one goal—success. In order to reach this goal we put our best foot forward. Whether or not the results measured up to our satisfaction . . .

It's a Take

Despite the many mistakes, unexpected happenings, defeats, and last minute arrangements, in the end almost everything turned out acceptable or even better—successful. Many long hours were spent practicing, studying, meeting, and rehearsing before the 'show' could go on. Sometimes we approached our tests, speeches, meets, games, or performances with knees knocking or butterflies in our stomachs, but nothing was ever really as bad as we had anticipated. We not only made it through the year's events, we had fun besides. Our efforts were rewarded with success, the beginning of a new summer, and for the seniors, graduation.

Powder Puff Ends Early

This year's Powder Puff football game was a memorable one. Unfortunately, tag football turned to tackle resulting in the game being called with approximately two minutes left. Although the scoreboard read 8-6, seniors ahead, the game was declared a draw.

Before the brawl began Jackie Bartelt bestowed the honor of King to John Kamman. Larry Altstadt and John Buening shared the prestige of Butler-of-Honor. Football and basketball homecoming weeks were filled with enthusiasm and excitement which peaked with the queen crownings. Nannette Smith was crowned during pregame activities of the North Posey football game and Penny Dittmer was her Maid of Honor. The Shoals basketball game was highlighted with Michelle Blume reigning as queen and Jill Morgan as her Maid of Honor. Nominated by the boys in their respective classes, the girls on the queen's court are then elected by their entire class. The Queen is then chosen from the five senior attendants by a vote of the entire student body. Making the arrangements in preparation for the various homecoming activities, queen crownings, and dances in honor of the queen and her court is the responsibility of the Student Council.

School Spirit Soars At SHS

Homecoming activities and pep sessions really raised our school spirit, but the sectional and anticipation of regional brought it to its peak. During Homecoming week the student council sponsored Weird Hair: Hats off to the Raiders Day, Everything Backwards and Crazy Socks Day, and Red, White and Black Day for which many of us dressed accordingly. The Pep club organized several skits for various pep sessions to boost our Raider athletes to victory and provide us with a few laughs. Even the teachers got in on the action by staging the "Wizard of Odds" before sectional and a concert (of sorts) before regional. They also competed for the best decorated IS area with the History IS Area coming out on top. The week between sectional and regional was the best week of the whole year. Our school spirit was expressed in our decorated locker areas, posters, and "Raider Mania" which became an epidemic.

SHS Initiates Dinner Theater

Southridge was given a change of pace when several students with direction from Mr. Younker, assisted by Mrs. Osborn, presented James Thurber's A THURBER CARNIVAL as a dinner theater in the commons. The play followed a meal of Stromboli and Baklava from the Gaslight. A number of students volunteered to be waiters and waitresses, and while they served the patrons, the cast waited nervously backstage. After the play started, the action moved rapidly from one set to the next. The performance went very well both nights, and Mr. Younker can be quoted as having said, "It looks as though we may have started a tradition at Southridge."

Things Were Fine in Glocca Morra This Fine Day

Preparation for FINIAN'S RAINBOW began two months before the actual production. Besides the regular practices which consisted of a lot of hard work and fun times, we also gathered props, constructed scenery, collected costumes, and sold program ads. As opening night drew near, we started having dress rehearsals; this brought out the first butterflies, and they hovered around from then on. The leading roles were brought to life by Dave Martin as Finian McLonergan, Beth Butke as his daughter Sharon, John Schwartz as Woody Mahoney, Laura Olinger as Woody's sister, Alan Mather as the whimsical Og, and John Kendall as Senator Rawkins. Mr. Keith Younker was the director, Mrs. Paula Alles was the choral director, Mr. Jack Schaeffe was orchestra director and Mr. Robert Schroeder played the piano. After the last curtain call, the Most Valuable Cast Member Award was presented to Dave (Finian) Martin. After the final performance the cast unwound and relived the highlights of a successful show at their cast party.

Raider Band Cottons to Texas

By working hard all summer we prepared ourselves for the tougher competition in Class B. In a cold district contest we continued the tradition of being sweepstakes champion. Failing to place at state was a great disappointment to all but especially to the seniors who could find no consolation in "next year". Looking forward to Texas and the Cotton Bowl activities raised our spirits, and we helped our cash cause by gleaning popcorn, selling airshow buttons, and washing cars. The band boosters provided the balance, and we left on December 28 and arrived in Dallas twenty hours later. We were welcomed with cold and windy weather which soon turned out to be a major storm accompanied by sub-zero temperatures. Frozen instruments, numb toes, frostbitten fingers, and teary eyes combined to make the parade and game a chilling experience for all of us. Despite the weather, we still got to see the Kennedy Museum, and a large shopping center. Just being with our friends and the funny things that happened made the trip worthwhile. As we anticipate next year with high hopes we must also say goodbye to a group of hard-working seniors who have made great contributions of time and effort during the past four years.

Concert Band Adds Jazz

With marching season complete we had to settle down to concert band once again. Preparing for our two concerts and contest wasn't the only thing we did. Many of us took solos or ensembles to contests, played in the pit orchestra for the musical, joined the jazz band or played with the pep band at basketball games.

Even though spring concert contest was the day following prom, we brought home a first quite easily. Our year ended with the annual awards banquet on May 6.

At the annual awards banquet, Becky Hemmer and Denise Wehr receive the Mental Attitude Awards.

The newly formed jazz band consists of Jan Olinger, Shannon Gehlhausen, Doug Mathias, Director Jack Schaeffle, Bret Rauscher, Jane Gehlhausen, Scott Patberg, Suzanne Rummel, Buck Byers, Dave Martin, Kevin Rauscher, Lynn Broeker, Lori Hayes and Jo Ann Gehlhausen.

Mary Mundy receives the Outstanding Auxiliary Corps Leadership Award for her work with the flag corps.

The Arion Foundation Award goes to Julie Castrup for her talents at playing bass clarinet, bassoon, xylophone, and bells.

Twirlers Successful in Final Year

In past years twirlers have been a tradition at SHS, but with the band becoming more military they will be replaced by sabres next year. All auxiliary corps members were chosen by a panel of judges from area schools last spring. The flags and rifles worked on basic skills in handling equipment during the summer until learning the routine at Band Camp. The twirlers attended

Smith-Walbridge twirling camp where they were finalists in overall competition bringing back many helpful ideas to be used in their routines. An asset to the flag corps, Mr. Keith Younker put in many hours during Cotton Bowl and Winter Guard practices. Acting as captain, Mary Mundy was recognized at the band banquet for outstanding auxiliary corps leadership.

Swing Choir Gets New Outfits

Choir is an important commitment for many Southridge students. As Freshmen they begin their singing experience by being members of the Freshman Chorus. After that, choral students become members of the Concert Choir comprised entirely of students from the three upper classes. Members of this choir may audition and be chosen for the Swing Choir. These various groups entertain at service clubs, conventions, and school concerts. Individually and as a group, they enter the district and state contests where the choir received a superior rating at the district level and some individuals advanced to the state level. Getting new outfits for the Swing Choir and participating in the all-school musical were highlights of the year for many choir students.

A gift from the choir is presented to Mrs. Alles by Dave Martin at the spring concert. Moments earlier Dave had received the Arion award.

The spring musical, Finian's Rainbow, is put on with a cast consisting of many choir students.

A select group, the Swing Choir adds choreography to their singing.

In their first year, choir students are broken in by singing with the freshman chorus.

The concert choir consists of approximately 57 members.

Council Donates Trophy Case

Southridge's 1978-79 Student Council had a fine year. They elected Denise Wehr president. Other officers were Vice-president Scott Scales, Secretary Jill Morgan, Treasurer Chris Oser, and Reporters Julie Duncan and Mark Enlow. Being involved in many activities kept the Council busy. For entertainment and to raise money, they sponsored the donkey basketball game, a hypnotist, and a play. Taking their turn in the concession stands and sponsoring an "ugly teacher" contest also raised money. For the second year a "Most Active Club" contest was sponsored. This year's biggest project was the purchase of the new trophy case. The band donated money to help the Student Council pay for the new trophy case, and the Council raised the rest. As SHS students enter the building, the various trophies displayed in the new case remind them of past triumphs and instill a sense of pride and hope for future accomplishments. The Student Council has contributed to this feeling.

FCA on Top Again

Collecting for UNICEF, singing Christmas carols, distributing Christmas presents to needy families, parking cars, and selling concessions are only a portion of the activities we took part in this year. By combining fun and fellowship we once again earned the Most Active Club award. A visit to Pike Central's newly formed FCA and our Almost Anything Goes competition gave us a chance to share our club with and learn from other schools' clubs. We earned extra money by selling cheese and as a result are sending several people to camp this summer. Hopefully, they will bring back ideas to make next year's club even better.

FHA Year's Project Studies Child Abuse

The Southridge FHA kept busy with various activities during the year. The project for the year was the study of child abuse. Again this year the club observed FHA week, had a Christmas party, and again invited their mothers to their annual Mother-Daughter Tea. This year a tradition of several years past, The Sweetheart Dance, was revived, and the Industrial Art's candidate Chris Oser was crowned queen of the event. To help finance their various activities the FHA sold cheese and coloring books. Sponsor Rebecca Fenimore was assisted this year by Karen Pund.

Media Club Busy Throughout Year

The Southridge Media Club was proud to have forty-eight active members this year. We opened the year with a get-acquainted skating party for our new and old members. Throughout the year the club had various projects. Different committees put up library displays which were paid for by the club. Manning the desk in the media center was another activity. At Christmas the club gave a cash donation to a needy person, and throughout the year flowers were sent to members who were hospitalized. Several book contests were sponsored by the club and, as in past years, the club purchased prizes for the contest. Once again we sold candy bars to raise money for our spring trip to King's Island. After a very active year, the Southridge Media Club is looking forward to another good year.

Journalism, Pix Report News

Journalism and photography classes work together to publish the school newspaper, the Raider Rapier. However, the photography students have other projects and assignments. They learn not only about taking good pictures but also about developing and printing the pictures they have taken. Their projects, requiring specific types of pictures, were displayed during the last few weeks of school. Some photography students also helped the yearbook staff with their picture needs and printing requirements. The journalism students wrote all articles printed in the school newspaper and then fit the articles, art work and pictures into a final layout. After the graphic arts department printed the pages, the journalism students were responsible for assembling the papers and distributing them to each homeroom.

Some photography students also formed a club which met during ECA. They are Jon Hemmer, Frank Loden, Mike Boyer, Steve McPherron, and Dave Williamson.

After publication of the last paper, journalism students Sheila Tredway, Kim Johnson, Zada Dicus, and Judy Barkley help Mr. Stilwell inventory AV equipment.

Pep Club Boosts Spirit

The Pep Club was instrumental in bringing our school spirit to an all time high this past year. For the first time, we had class representatives to plan skits and make arrangements for anything that needed to be done. In addition to putting up posters, we bought a cake for each athletic team prior to their sectional or conference competition. To motivate our athletes we encouraged everyone to back the Raiders at all of the various sports events, especially the Princeton wrestling meet and the biggest Production of all—Basketball Sectional.

Art Club Joins Fine Arts' Groups

Students interested in art or foreign language had several clubs they could join. The Art Club was formed to give its members the opportunity to appreciate the different forms of creative art. Besides meeting during ECA, the club took a field trip to the Holiday Inn Art Show in Jasper. Language Clubs were once again a part of extra-curricular activities. The Spanish Club held several parties featuring Spanish and Mexican food. In the fall, a hay-ride was enjoyed by the Spanish and German clubs combined. The tradition of Christmas carolling in German was continued, and the annual German dinner at the Schnitzelbank finished off the year.

Vocational Clubs Have Practical Application

Both the Agricultural Club and the Industrial Arts Club give students interested in these vocational areas a chance to learn more. Regular meetings throughout the year during ECA help these interested students develop their skills. The Industrial Arts Club recognizes outstanding achievement in their area by awarding the Golden Hammer to a deserving senior. The Agricultural Club's highlight of the year was a fieldtrip to Louisville. This club's membership grew as more underclassmen and some girls joined the club. Both clubs have given students a chance to apply and extend their vocational experiences during the school year.

Members of the Industrial Arts Club are shown with Sponsor John Blemker. Elected officers are President Kerry Jochim, Vice-President Doug Rohlman, Secretary Robert Meyer, and Treasurer Dan Wagner.

Marty Englert was this year's recipient of the Golden Hammer Award which is sponsored by the Industrial Arts Club.

Special Interest Clubs Thrive At SHS

The Tennis and Chess clubs met during ECA periods and polished their game. The Conservation Club used their meetings to polish their conservation knowledge. By having guest speakers and student reports, the club members had interesting meetings. Sponsoring a fishing contest and taking a field trip to the newly opened Patoka Lake were the highlights of the year.

Members of the Chess Club are Scott Brown, Sponsor Keith Younger, Allan Haas, Dave Schuch, and Jay Nelson.

Tennis Club members are Tammy Libbert, Cheryl Ubelhoer, Sponsor Larry Kieffner, Jane Klem, Jennifer Luker, and Nyana Mesmer.

Various Clubs Emphasize Fitness, Service

The clubs at Southridge are of a wide variety and reflect the interest of the student body. There are some clubs which are not officially organized, but they serve the students. Weightlifting and lettermen are two examples. These people have shown dedication to various sports. Dedication of another kind is shown by the members of the newly chartered Octagon Club sponsored by the Optimists. The emphasis is on service, and this new club has many members who intend to serve.

Although not an official active club during ECA time, these boys and many others are weightlifters year 'round.

Invictus '79— A Production In Itself

Last summer the editors of Invictus attended yearbook camp and came back with theme development nearly complete. With this head start and ideas for a new style of layouts we began working. At the University of Evansville Journalism Day the 1978 Invictus was critiqued and won for achievements in copy, photography, layout design and general excellence, but we were determined to make this year's book even better. Meeting deadlines caused some hectic hours as other activities seemed to take priority with staff members' time. Many thanks go to Sharon Wertman who remained a hardworking and patient advisor as a few of us worked late into the summer months to complete our "Big Production."

Berry's First Year Produces 7-3 Season

With a completely changed coaching staff and high hopes, we began sweating through practices in early August. After only a few weeks at the grindstone, we started our season on the wrong foot by letting Jasper beat us 19-7, but we won our next game against Washington 20-12. Pike Central outscored us the next week 19-8 before we really got moving and won the next six games which put us in contention for the PAC title.

The Junior Varsity team consists of: G. Birkle, D. Flack, D. Turpin, M. Williams, D. Meyerholtz, K. Ingram, S. Scales, S. Ferguson, R. Rummel, M. Parke, M. Enlow, A. Mullen, S. Sollman, D. Trusty, M. Raiders Dominate PAC Team

The decisive game against South Spencer was last, and we had set our goals for the top. If we won, we would be PAC champs, but defeat would leave us tied for second. We started out great, but somehow we let them slip by with a score of 21-20 making our conference record 5-2. The All-PAC team, picked by the coaches, included five Southridge Seniors. Offensive players were Jack Martin at guard and Doug Libbert at center. John Kamman was chosen as both offensive and defensive end, and John Schwartz was defensive guard. At offensive halfback and defensive linebacker was Jeff Williams. He was also named co-captain of the defensive team and Most Valuable Player in the PAC.

Harriers Set PAC Record

Among the several goals the crosscountry set as the season started were a second PAC title and a regional berth. We survived our twice a day summer practices and began our season with a third place finish in the 22 team North Harrison Invitational. We placed third in the Shoals Invitational and defeated 12 teams to capture the North Posey Invitational. We set a PAC record of 29 points as we won our second consecutive PAC championship. This ended our regular season, a season constantly hampered by numerous injuries and illnesses, with an excellent record of 53 wins and 4 losses. A disappointing fifth place in the sectional meet ended our hopes of a regional berth. With 7 of 9 letterman returning for next year, we hope to have another fine season.

V-Ball Team Drops 13

Co-captained by Seniors Lisa Brummond and Jana Buse, the volleyball team compiled an 8-13 season. Although the six returning lettermen and four new varsity members worked hard, their PAC finish was a tie for fourth. Lisa Brummond set two new individual records by setting 329 times and blocking 63 times. The Jr. Varsity compiled a 6-11 season but played some very close sets which gives promise for next year's team.

Swimmers Break Seven Records

The girls' swimming season was moved up one month this year so we began practicing in August. Although eight lettermen were returning, we still had a relatively inexperienced team. Our new coach Mr. Art Daniels introduced training techniques, stroke mechanics and early morning practices which were new to most of us. Our record of 2-9 does not indicate the hard work we put in or the time improvements that were made. Laura Olinger once again set new school records in the 50, 100, 200, and 500 freestyle events and in the 100 butterfly. She also won the 100 freestyle in the PAC meet. The individual Medley record fell several times for Lori Kilian, and Belinda Cook captured the 100 breaststroke record. The 400 freestyle relay team of Laura Olinger, Chris Gasser, Lori Kilian, and Jill Morgan also set a new record. As a team we finished third in PAC competition and fifth in the IHSAA Sectional.

Boy Swimmers Improve Times

Even though the boys' swim team record reads five wins-four losses, they still had a great season. They not only came in third in PAC competition, but they also broke six records during the season. Shannon Gehlhausen broke the 100 breaststroke record, Dennis Gentry set a new diving record, Scott Scales posted a record time in the 200 individual medley, and Kye Miller's effort in the 100 backstroke was good for a new standard. Kye and Scott together with Jeff Trusty and Randy Patton swam to a new high in the 400 freestyle relay. Kye and Randy joined Roger Miller and Mike Dwyer to break the 200 medley time. With all but one of the team members returning next year, the Raider boys' swim team should post even more new records next year.

Guy Cheerleaders Initiate Hopeful Tradition

The SHS cheerleaders start training during the summer by participating in clinics conducted by the National Cheerleaders Association at Vincennes University. Southridge was well-represented each week. The Varsity received all superior ribbons, was awarded the second runner-up trophy for the Award of Excellence and brought home a spirit stick. Individually, Junior Belinda Cook received the "Shout It Out" award, enabling her to be chosen along with thirteen other cheerleaders from the United States to cheer in the 1979 Senior Bowl at Mobile, Alabama in January. This honor also provided a scholarship for her and uniform money for the other SHS cheerleaders. The J. V. squad also made the Award of Excellence finals, received first runner-up, and brought home a spirit stick. To start a new tradition, five male cheerleaders were added to the Varsity cheerleading squad. Hard work and a lot of practice made their debut a success. This, along with the sectional victory and a thrilling regional, made the cheerleaders' year a very exciting one filled with many happy memories, especially for seniors Penny Dittmer, Jill Morgan, John Schwartz, Nannette Smith, John Songer, and John Welp.

One of the major roles of the guy cheerleaders was performing double stunts with the girls. Below are seniors John Songer and Nannette Smith.

Raider Wrestlers Pin Down PAC

The Raider wrestlers had their best season yet. They finished the season at 12-2 and set sixteen team or individual records. Winning the PAC title with Kenny Ingram, Dennis Benson, Frank Fischer, Jack Martin, Doug Klem, Mike Trusty, John Kamman, and Doug Abell all coming home PAC champs in their weight class was a great accomplishment. The North Knox Invitational was another on the list of Raider victories. The team came in second at sectional, their highest place ever, and sent five wrestlers to Regional; they were Ingram, Fischer, Trusty, Kamman, and Abell. John Schwartz, who should have been a member of this group, had been sidelined with a shoulder injury. He lent moral support to the team as the Raiders finished their season by sending Kamman and Abell to the Semi-state where they bowed out in preliminary competition and finished the most successful season ever for the Raider wrestlers.

Season Record Set

The 1978-79 basketball season was a success for both the Varsity and JV teams. The JV team ended third in the PAC and managed a 14-6 record. Varsity compiled the best record (18-6) in the history of Southridge basketball. They also came in second in the PAC losing only to South Spencer. Capping this excellent season was a sectional victory over Dubois and a trip to the regional where the valiant Raiders were defeated by Washington in the final game.

Sectional—How Sweet It Was!

The papers all picked us to take the sectional crown, but we didn't need them to tell us—we knew it all along. The telltale sign was the guys. Although there were obvious signs of jitters as sectional drew near, they still let everyone know they planned on winning. In the first game we handily beat Forest Park 56-40. We couldn't wait until the championship game to take on Dubois who had beaten Perry Central and Jasper to earn their berth. To say that final game was a thriller WOULD be an understatement. When the long-awaited buzzer sounded, we were thankfully on top 46-44. When everyone had finished hugging, we watched our guys cut the nets. After celebrating that night and learning that we wouldn't have school on Monday, we all started anticipating the next weekend. Regional was our next step, and we were ready to fight for it.

From Ecstasy To Agony

After a full week on "Cloud Nine" from winning the sectional, we headed to Washington with high hopes. Our team had the best record in the field and had previously beaten two of the three other teams. This alone gave us reason to think positive. The game against Springs Valley ended with a score of 66-48 our favor. We were ecstatic! We, the fans, spent the afternoon cheering around Washington while the players rested at Vincennes. The final game came, and we were pretty confident as we faced Washington because we had beaten them during regular season. Obviously the Hatchets decided we couldn't do it to them twice and got us back. Our hearts fell in the closing minutes as we got beat 70-51. It was a great disappointment and there were many tears shed, but we couldn't have been prouder of our Raiders. After all, they had gotten farther in tournament action than any previous Raider team and had all the reason in the world to hold their heads high.

Girls Make Valiant Effort

Although this year's Girls' Varsity team could only manage a 5-10 season, determination and spirit were evident. Hampered by injuries the girls showed a sticky defense in spite of some very tough opponents. They were able to score a break-even 3-3 in PAC competition. They bowed out in the Sectional against Forest Park 63-64. The Junior Varsity compiled an 8-4 record to finish their year on a more successful note.

team consisting of Larry Altstadt, Jeff Oser, Keith Oser and Doug Turpin. New track records were set by Jeff Oser in the 440 and the mile relay team also. After an outstanding track season, Mr. Duncan bowed out as coach.

Girls Snap Six Records

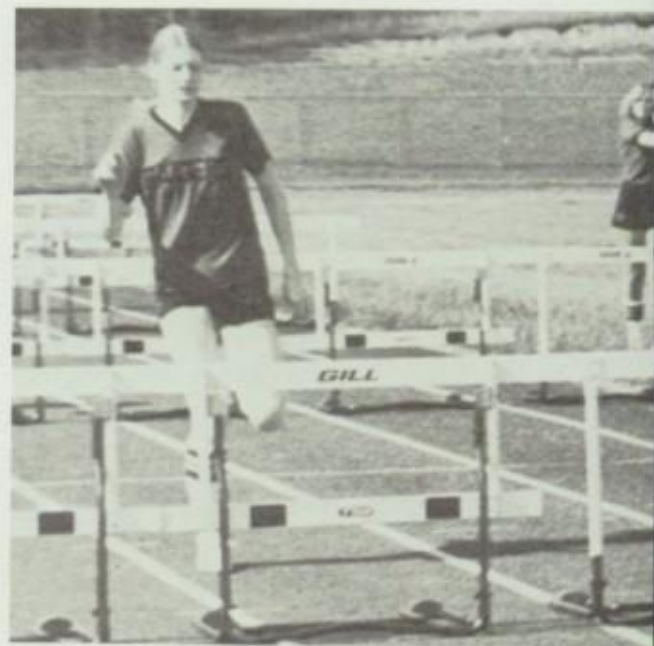

With a team comprised mainly of underclassmen, the Girls' Track Team ran one of the best seasons in the history of SHS. For the second year in a row, the team took home the first place trophy in the Forest Park Invitational. At the track sectional the team finished second, and in the PAC they finished a disappointing third. Six records were broken by team members, and four girls came through sectional competition to earn a berth in the regional competition. With only one senior on this year's team, the sixteen returning lettermen should provide a strong core for next year's team.

Girls' track team members are J. Egler, K. Skaggs, T. Meyer, D. Jochum, B. Cook, B. Pickle, M. Blume, S. Luker, T. Riggles, S. Hoffman, J. Abell, S. Kemp, B. Bender, W. Craig, C. Mutchman, K. Baseball Team Records 11 Wins

After starting the season off with four straight wins and ending regular season action with another four straight wins, the Raider baseball team brought the season to a close with a record of 11-7-1. In sectional play they were up against Forest Park but lost the game 0-2. The Raiders were 4-3 in PAC play, and only one Raider, Jay Nelson, was named to the All PAC team. With many returning underclassmen the Raiders should be tough next year. They will be under the direction of a new coach because Coach Meyer submitted his resignation at the end of the season.

Raiders Rack Up a Winning Season

The Raider Tennis Team finished the season with a record of 9-7. They ended up second in the PAC with a league record of 3-1. Jay Nelson was the PAC number one singles. The highlight of the year was the Raiders' victory at the Senior Invitational Tournament. With only two seniors leaving, there will be six returning lettermen for next year's tennis team.

The Raiders who played in sectional action are Todd King, Roger Miller, Buck Byers, David Schuch, Jay Nelson, Mark Caldemeyer, and Larry Fowler.

Tie Playoff Leaves Golfers 2nd in PAC

Under the direction of the new coach Steve Winkler the golf team had a successful season. Undeclared in regular season PAC play, the Raiders faltered to a tie in the PAC meet. Unable to win the playoff match, the Raiders had to settle for second place. At sectional play Bill Pinkstaff managed a tie for third for the highest Raider score. Although the team will be losing four senior starters, strong underclassmen have already proven a threat to Raider foes assuring SHS of continuing the winning tradition of their golf team.

Once more the Huntingburg Optimists club hosted an outstanding All-Sports Banquet. Raiders Wrap Up Fifth Straight All-Sports Trophy

Winning an All Sports Trophy required effort from many people. Athletes and coaches were encouraged by support from fans. Behind the scene, personnel scheduled events, hired officials, and worked games. In addition, all team members had to make a special, extra effort to win. For some that extra effort involved playing every quarter; for others the effort involved maintaining a good attitude while riding the bench or meeting the toughest conference foe in an individual contest. Last of all the coaches gave hours preparing the athletes for all opportunities. All of these people are the winners in the SHS sports program. They helped to rack up the accomplishments that made 1978-79 another banner year.

...Make Up the Cast of
Our Show

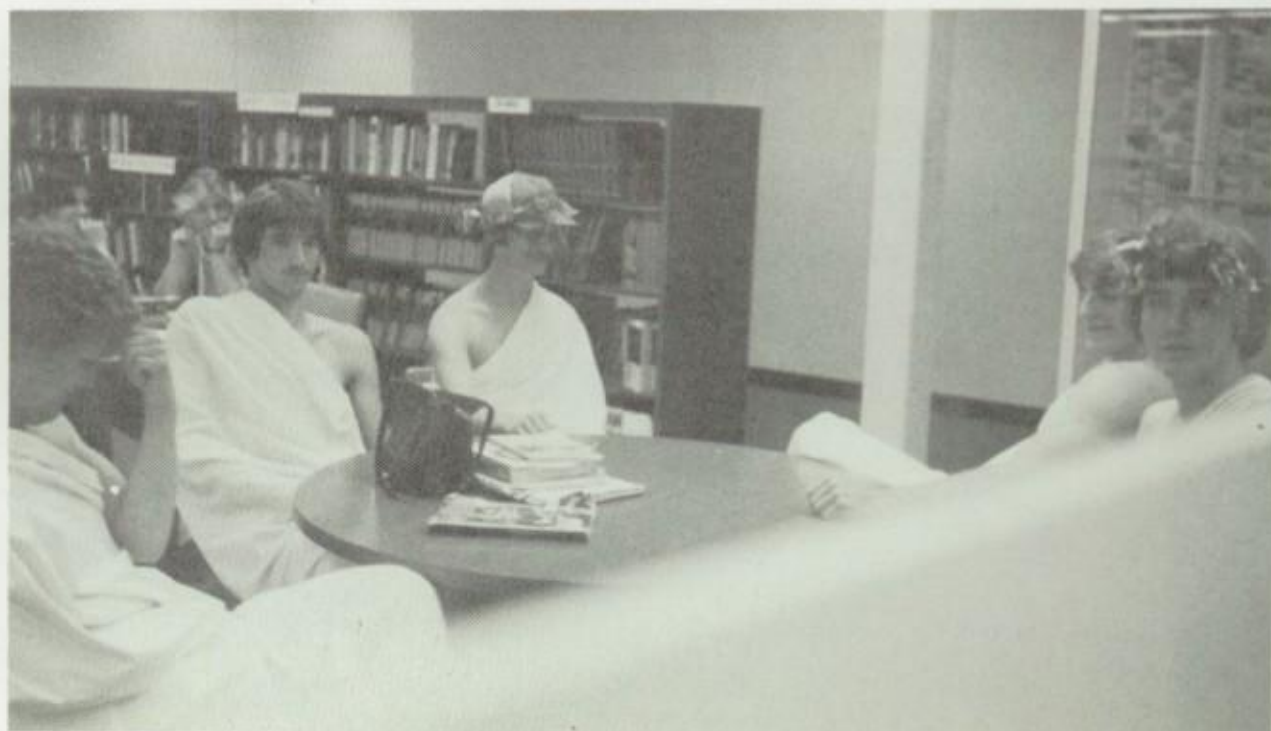

Seniors—Stars of the Show

We, the Seniors, have been called many things, but this year we were the "stars of the show." We proved what stars we were by showing the underclassmen what it takes to win the Homecoming Spirit Award. The faculty was even put in their place when we became the first class ever to beat them in the Senior-Faculty basketball game. Our leadership was evident in everything we did—from getting our club meetings rolling to demanding the release of a detention stricken Senior on the last day of school. We had a great time at the top, and we realize that much of it wouldn't have been possible without the help of the supporting cast who made us look as good as we did. Thanks.

John Kamman and Justin Hollander congratulate each other, and the Seniors go on to beat the faculty for the first time.

The last week of school has Dave Seidl, Randy Langebrake, Dave Elmer, John Schwartz, and John Welp invading the library donned in togas.

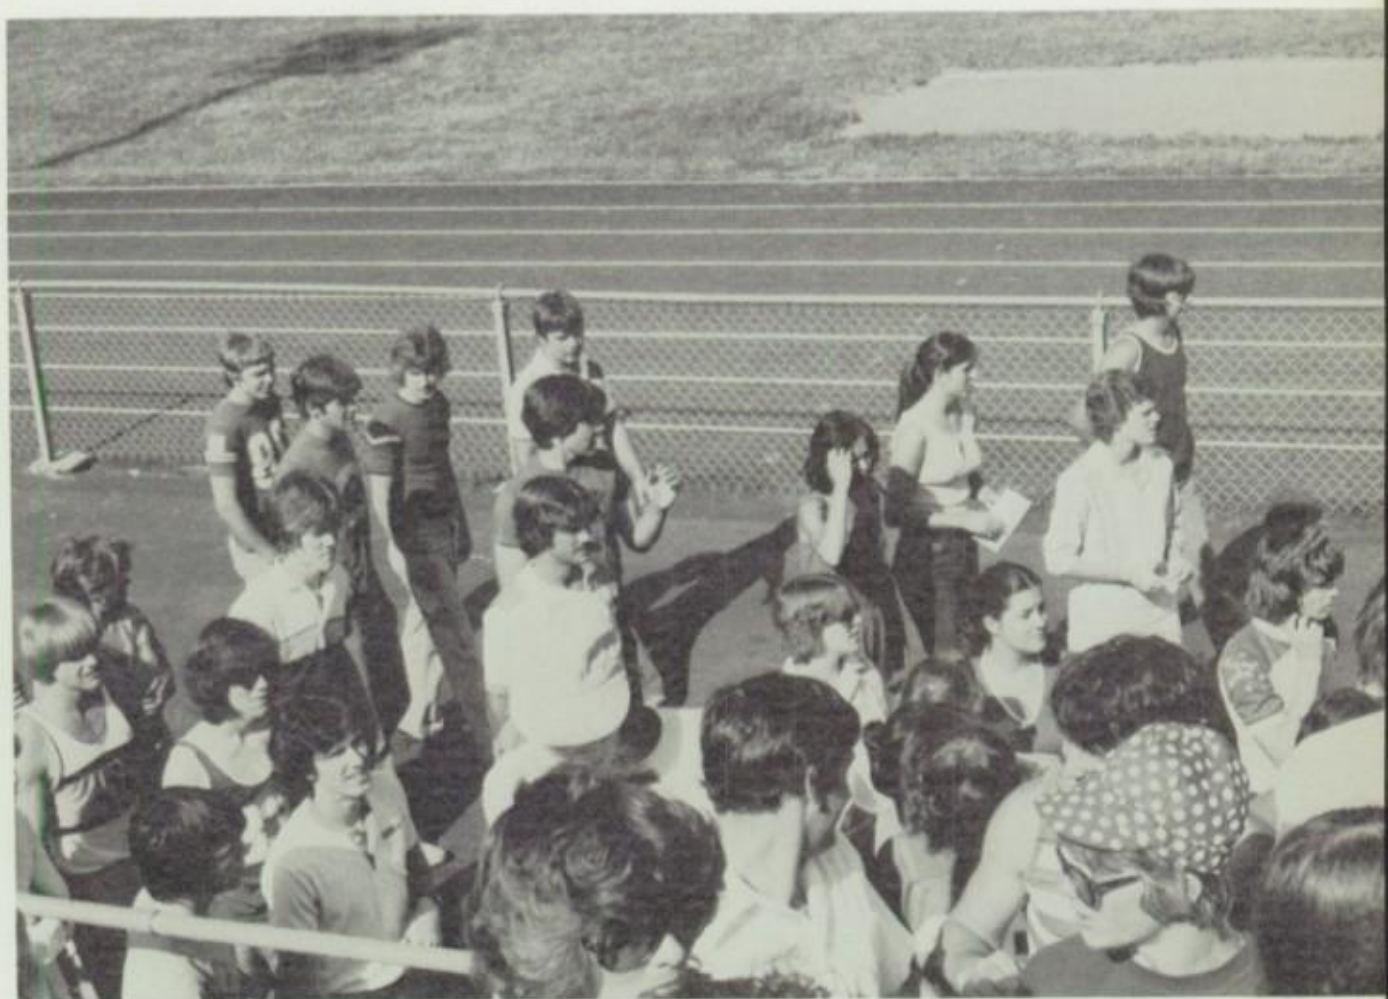

It didn't win, but the Senior float caused a lot of good times.

John Songer takes part in one of the many frisbee sessions that took place the last weeks of school.

Graduation—"It Is Here"

Graduation brought with it many mixed emotions. We were all excited about the big night, yet we were just beginning to realize what was happening. During the ceremony we listened as the various speakers took us back through our four years at Southridge. This had us reliving many of those special moments from the beginning of our freshman year to our last days of high school. After Commencement some of us cried while the rest of us laughed; either way, we knew our high school days were over, and this was our way of acknowledging it. We would all be going our separate directions, but regardless of where we went, we'd take with us a part of Southridge—the memories.

Before the graduation ceremonies begin, Randy Langebrake looks over the program.

Justin Hollander and Mary Mundy give their goodbyes before heading for home and the parties.

Juniors—Understudies In the Big Production

As the understudies in the Big Production at Southridge, we Juniors anticipate one more year of high school and truly look forward to finally being seniors. As we look back on the past three years at Southridge, we all must admit our Junior year was the toughest. We took our hardest classes this year like chemistry, accounting, and for some of us, analysis. All of us had to work hard in American History and the Junior English project almost did us in. But, it was a fun year too. We showed the Seniors a tough time in the Powder Puff Game, had a great time building a wonderful float, and finally, we put together a super-great prom. Being Juniors at Southridge put all of us in a mood full of high hopes, energy, and dreams for the years to come.

Dave Buechler, Phil Morgan, and Dennis Gentry are ready to leave on a field trip.

Jolene Pund and Tina Frick show their originality on Weird Hat Day.

Our Junior class officers who led us to a fun-filled, productive year are President Jackie Bartelt, Secretary Lori Kilian, Vice-president Tina Stetter, and Treasurer Debbie Rummel.

Sophomores—Supporting Cast For a Big Production

1981 . . . just two years away; however, this year was great. Being sophomores made us feel more like part of the school. We got to take part in more activities this year. Sophomores participated in the musical, concerts, and sports. We even won the float contest.

We took classes designated mainly for sophomores, like general business and geometry. Doing our first research paper was something too. Getting our class rings, class jackets and especially our drivers' licenses were also highlights of our sophomore year.

Dave Reese, Scott Steinkamp, and Terry Underhill look over an English I.S. short story assignment.

Anxiously awaiting the results of the 78-79 District Marching Contest, Judy Woodall and Lynn Broeker hope for the best.

Assisted by freshmen, Sophomores Nathan Scherry, Theresa Tretter, and Angie Garrison pull hard for the Southridge FAC in a tug-of-war.

Joyce Simpson, LaDonna Lee, and Cathy Bartelt enjoy cake and punch at the Scholarship Tea.

An intermission during the Spring Choral Concert gives Donna Hedinger, Kathy Miller, Mark Enlow, and Tracy Riggles a chance to talk and Tracy a chance to rest her feet.

Freshmen— Bit Players In Big Production

The Freshman Class was also part of the Big Production at Southridge. After a few weeks here, we finally felt we too belonged. Even though we were only Bit Players we still felt we were a part of things here. Being called "greenies" and having the upperclassmen constantly teasing us about our first attempt on our homecoming float was the price we had to pay for being part of the Big Production. Participating in school activities, joining clubs and organizations, playing in athletic events, and helping cheer our teams on to another victory made us forget about all of the hard times. As our Freshman year came to an end we felt as though we had made a production of our own as we became sophomores.

Conservation Club member Terry Hilsmeier keeps an eye on food and drinks for the field trip.

Showing a strong effort in the FCA Almost Anything Goes tug-a-war are Freshmen Andy Mullen and Sheila Hoffman.

Participating in pre-sectional activities are Lisa Schroeder, Jenny Payne, and Angie Mundy.

Working at a part time job is part of everyday routine for Shelly Gunselman, Beth Gunselman, and Wanda Craig.

Deb Johnson and Debbie Prior watch as others decorate the locker area.

This year's Freshman class officers were Secretary-Treasurer Jane Michel, Vice-president Jenny Payne, and President Angie Mundy.

Kristi Ahrens, Shelia and Beth Gunselman, and Kelly Jochum with the help of Kathy Sollman (absent) did the Freshman album section.

The freshmen's first entry in the homecoming float contest utilizes a "Hang 'em out to dry" theme.

(Middle) Chairing a Reading Competency Committee meeting is Assistant Superintendent Dick Cochren.

Averaging GPA's for the Study Club Scholastic is Guidance Counselor DeAnna Eckert.

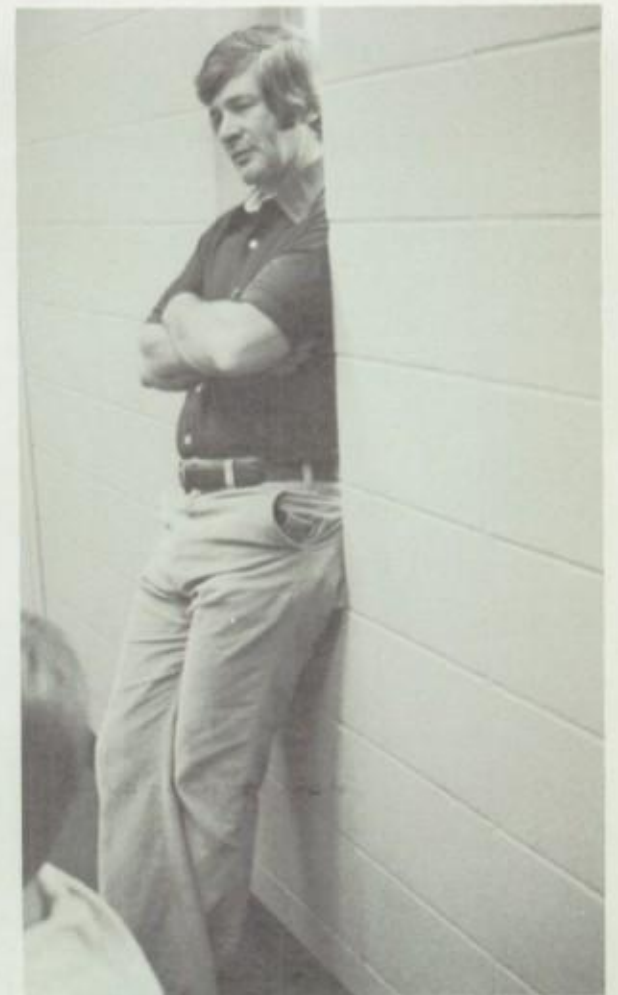

A short coffee break is in order for Vice-principal Jim Bilderback after working on the computer scheduling.

Guidance Counselor Bob Luker posts college information.

The Buck Stops Here

When someone at Southridge High School says something about the "Front Office," the chances are good they are thinking of people rather than space. At SHS this phrase refers to the administration. The Principal and Vice-principal oversee all aspects of the school and are responsible for making certain the policies set by the superintendents and appointed school board are carried out. The Guidance Department is ready to counsel with students, and the Athletic Director is kept busy administering the thirteen varsity sports at SHS. Aiding all of these "front office" people is a capable office staff. All of these people keep Southridge running smoothly.

Athletic Director and Student Council Sponsor Mr. Jim Bardwell advises an early morning meeting.

Happily showing off the sectional trophy are Principal Ray Roesner and Coach Gary Duncan.

Checking the tennis courts before their regular School Board meeting are Kenny Craig, Superintendent Bill Schnute, Max Olinger and Dennis Balsmeyer.

Teachers Give Helping Hand

The modular scheduling at SHS allows students an opportunity to see their teachers and request aid outside of class time. Usually this help is given in one of the various departments' Independent Study (IS) Areas; however, if a student in the library or the commons requests help, the teacher there will be happy to help them. This contact gives students and teachers not only an opportunity to work together but also an opportunity to know each other better.

Students Sharon Songer, Janet Weitkamp, Dave Reese, Theresa Tretter, and Cindy Stout share a news item with Sophomore English teacher Larry Kieffner.

Band Director Don Robertson comforts Drum Major Jill Morgan after the state marching contest.

Cramming for finals, Pam Hensley is assisted by Mr. Larry Bacher.

Ready to begin a Social Studies IS project, Scott Kemp and Scott Ferguson listen as Mr. Akers explains the assignment.

John Ingle and Scott Brown watch as Math teacher Jon Abbey figures semester grades.

Verla Flick and LaVonne Michel are ready to assist students in Business IS.

Seniors Bill Pickle, Matt Hackman, Michelle Uebelhoer and Gerri Buechlein watch as Mr. Menke demonstrates an analysis problem in IS.

Solid Curriculum Features Variety

With a wide variety of classes to choose from, SHS students can pursue many different interests. The eighty-five classes offered range from general math to calculus, from biology to physics and from foods to photography. These various classes help to prepare the students for many future possibilities whether the students plan to further their formal education or pursue a career immediately after graduation. A qualified, caring faculty is another benefit for the students at SHS.

Finals are almost finished as Mr. Leo Oxley collects Terry Underhill's textbook.

Cataloging and storing equipment is Audio Visual Director Art Stilwell.

Jackie Brown asks Mr. Jerry Hunefeld for clarification on a geography test.

Mr. Jim Buck checks Doug Rohlman's work.

Mr. David Jochem sorts and stores materials for the coming year.

Don Stonecipher, Jerry Lange, Mike Niehaus, Myra Tevault, and Shelia Reese listen attentively to Mr. Steve Winkler's explanation as he types students' blood.

Brenda Bender receives directions from English teacher Mr. Pat Ruhe.

SHS Teachers Support, Sponsor Extra-Curricular Activities

Many school activities keep teachers busy outside the classroom. Some teachers sponsor clubs related to their teaching area or their special interests. Others are involved in the athletic activities at SHS. Still others do a variety of jobs related to school activities. Whether it's a club, a sport, or a job that just needs doing, the teachers at SHS pitch in.

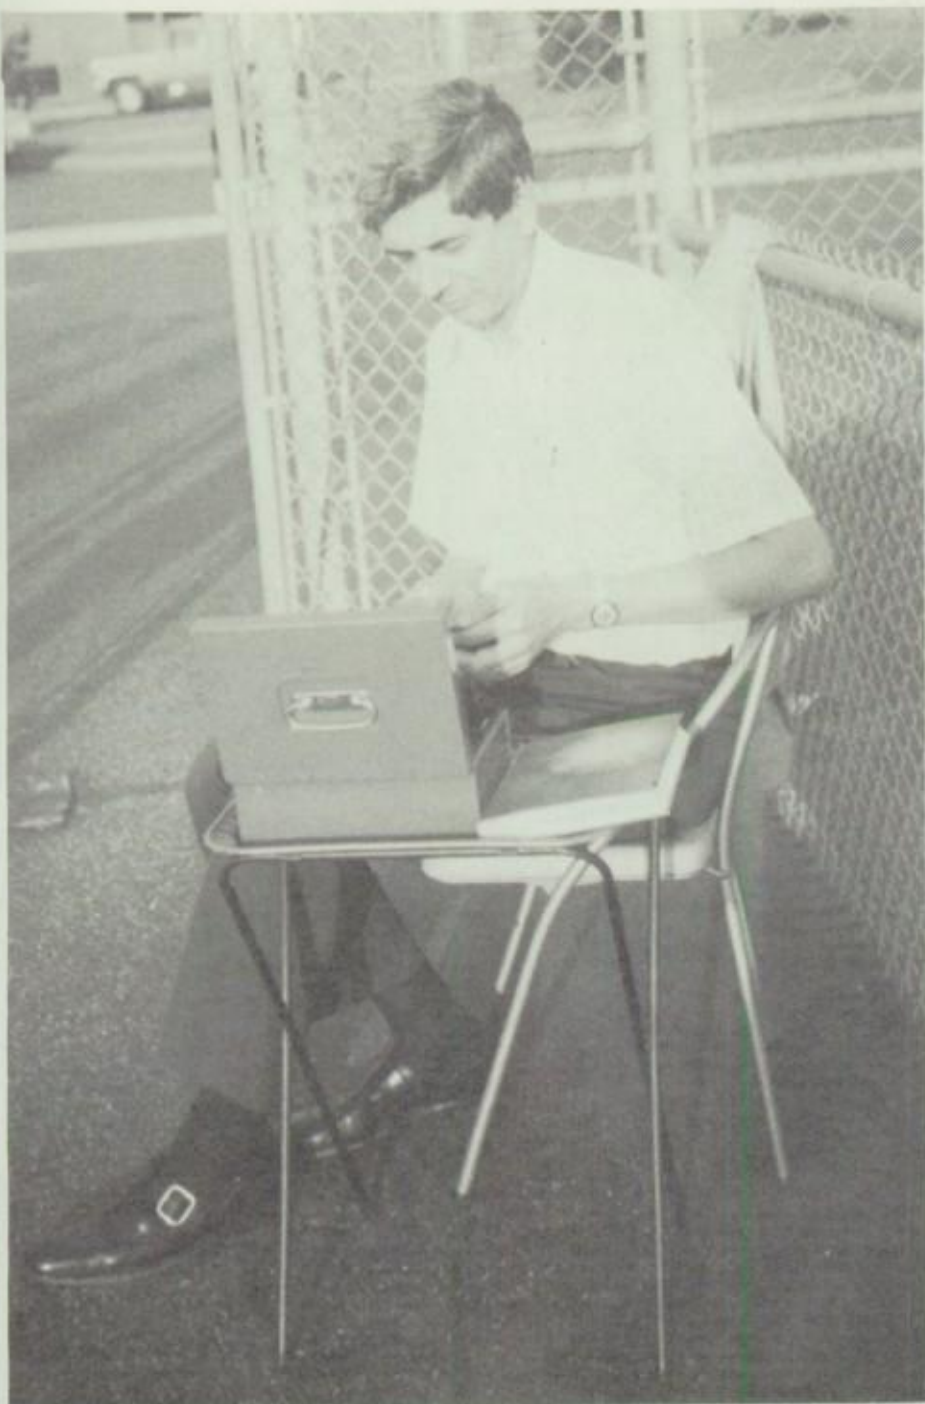

In the press box, Mr. Al Mihajlovits and Mr. Keith Younker make announcements and keep a running score for each school in the Southridge Invitational.

Before an evening band practice, Director Don Robertson and Asst. Director Jack Schaeffe try to loosen a mouthpiece.

Preparing iced tea and lemonade for the FHA Mother-Daughter tea are Home Economics teachers Karen Pund and Rebecca Fenimore.

Mr. Ransome is almost ready to leave on a Conservation Club field trip.

FCA sponsors Mr. Leroy Berry and Miss Terri Droege check FCA records.

Talking things over before Scott's record breaking pole vault are Scott Buse and Bill Schneider.

In his usual place at spring sports events, Mr. Bob Schroeder prepares to sell tickets.

Passing out erasable ink pens to Senior staff members is Invictus sponsor Sharon Wertman.

Directors Don Costumes

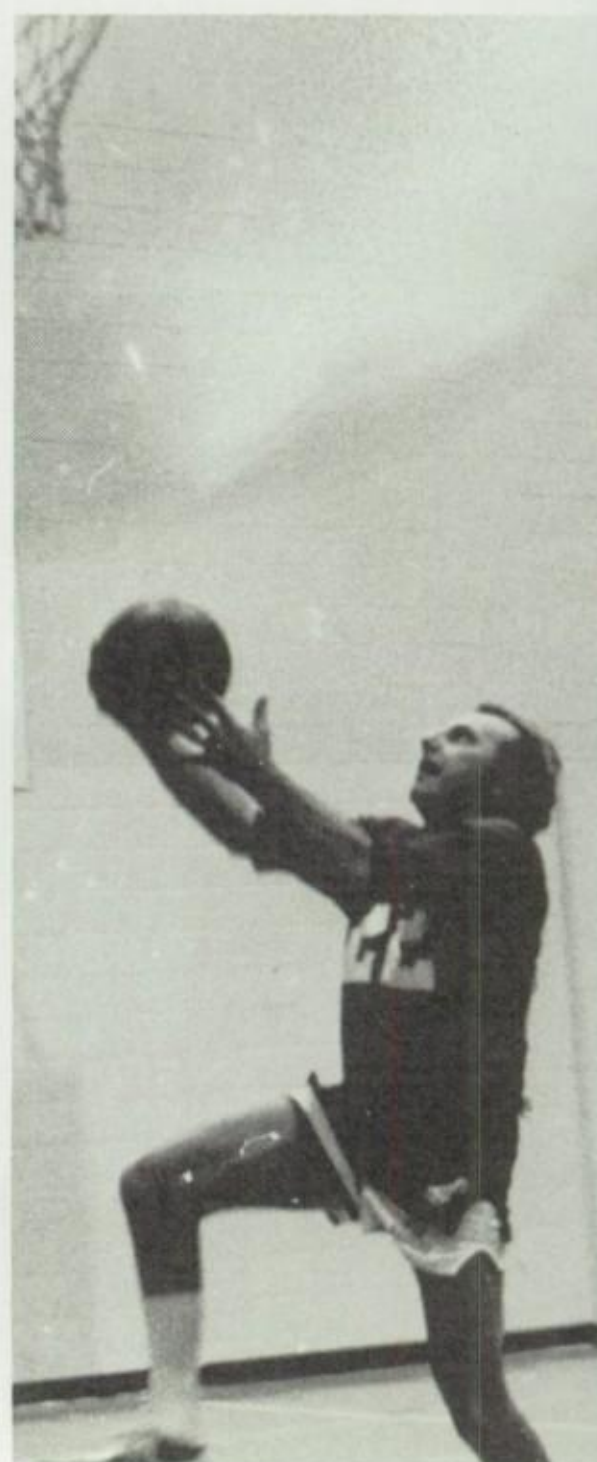

Although teachers could be considered the directors in the Southridge production, many of them found time to take another role. Some put on costumes to raise school spirit in a pep session skit; others donned them for a special class occasion. Still others put on strange outfits for a fund-raising effort. Only a few of the various roles that faculty members filled are shown on these pages, but this shows that faculty members have lots of imagination.

Taking the role of Mother Goose in the pep session skit "The Wizard of Odds" is Karen Osborn.

Mr. Lowell Beasley accepts his prize for winning "Ugliest Teacher" contest from Student Council president Denise Wehr.

Although it was a losing cause, Gary Meyer goes up for two in the Senior-Faculty game.

Three of the faculty members who showed in the regional pep session they were "backing the Raiders" are LaVonne Hunter, Karen Pund, and Rebecca Fenimore.

Some of the faculty members really like to dress up. Shown in German costumes are Rosemary Fischer, Jan Waninger, and Charlene Knies. Ready to teach the Twenties unit to the American history class are Charlene Knies, Ron LaGrange, and Jan Waninger. Repeating in costume are Rosemary Fischer and Charlene Knies. Assisting them in "plain clothes" are Jan and Ron.

People Behind the Scenes Make Day Pleasant

Scrubbing the commons floor, Lawrence Cronin brushes up lots of suds.

Plant superintendent Dick Grewe rewires an area as he changes a classroom wall.

Mrs. Lillian Mather, teachers' aid, and Marilyn Duncan, Quiet Study supervisor, have an early morning conversation.

Supervising the reading lab is the job of Mrs. Linda Chambers.

The "kitchen crew" is (seated) Shirley Reese, Helen Lemkuhler, Ruth Williamson, (standing) Barbara Bilderback, Anna Altmeyer, Ella Mae Norris, Jean Rademacher and Mary Frick.

Inventorying books is one of Betty Koehler's jobs.

Celebration is in order after the Raider Band is announced Sweepstakes Champion. As the final buzzer sounds, Coach Duncan reacts to the Sectional victory.

Encore!

Throughout the year there were many ups and downs as we struggled through tough spots and celebrated over the victories. Even though we missed a cue now and then, as the curtain closes we recall a sweep-stakes victory, a broken record, a sectional crown, a higher than expected grade or a PAC victory. The final scene of our Big Production is now complete and just like in our dramatic performances "A Thurber Carnival" and "Finian's Rainbow" the cast and directors deserve a standing ovation. As the Seniors take their final bow, we realize they will not be here next year, the rest of us will be back for an outstanding "Encore."

Bouquets of appreciation go to those people who played a vital role in putting this book together. Alan Peter-sime of The Daily Herald and John Hopper of the Huntingburg Independent were kind enough to let us use their prints and negatives. Dan Patmore, Art Stilwell, Keith Younker, Jo Ann Gehlhausen, and Jeff Lewallen are also responsible for many of the pictures. A special bouquet goes to Marvin Boeglin and Chase Studio for their patience and the time they spent taking, developing, and printing so many of the pictures used in this book. Roses go to Laura Olinger, Mary Mundy, and Sharon Wertman for giving up much of their summer in order to complete our part of the "BIG PRODUCTION."

Commencement begins with the traditional march to "Pomp and Circumstance."

Sectional action brings the Raider pep block to its feet.

Raider fans are proud of their team's performance in Regional basketball.
